Privacy Awareness Week 2014

A lot of the cyber bullying and negative interactions that you as parents and Corrimal High are concerned about between students occurs on Facebook and other applications because of the privacy settings used by your children.

Smartphones, tablets, laptops, mobile apps and social media... How we interact and communicate with each other has changed a lot! To protect kids against issues such as cyber bullying, unwanted attention or privacy breaches, teach them to be online savvy:

- Remind them not to share their usernames and passwords with anyone
- Check the privacy settings of social networking sites with them to make sure they are only sharing their personal information with their friends
- Educate them about the security risks of sharing too much detail online
- Get them thinking about the long term effects of their online behaviour – the cost to their reputation with friends, family and even potential future employers
- Encourage them to think before they post online – a digital footprint can last forever!

For more information, visit this website www.ipc.nsw.gov.au or to make an enquiry call 1800 IPC NSW (1800 472 679)

Congratulations to Keaton James

In today’s busy society and with the need for many students to work to support their family income, it’s often harder for young people to engage in activities that supplement their classroom learning and stimulate personal growth. This can also affect a student’s self-esteem, self-reliance, leadership qualities, team-work abilities, confidence, compassion and interest in their local community. Without access to opportunities and a social network, disadvantaged students miss out on more than just activities. They can miss out on a chance to see themselves as leaders.

With the significant support of the Smith Family, Keaton James has been selected as 1 of 32 students Australia wide to attend the National Aspiring Leaders Summit in Canberra. This is a great opportunity for Keaton, and is an example of the many opportunities available to students here at Corrimal High.
